Cool weather and Surround

Hi Everyone,

I'm on Long Island, Zone 7... I would normally be thinking about applying Surround for my curculio problem about now, particularly on peaches. However, it has been unseasonably cool here this spring, and is forecast for highs in the low 60's or 50's for the rest of this week and next. Question is, can I delay the petal fall spray of Surround? Or should I get the clay on at petal fall. As always, thanks for your collective help
