Call this a Hail Mary pass. What fish I had on hand from a pallet order two springs ago got me through this morning's Comp3 applications. I'm done now with fish for this growing season . . . but do wish I had about 10–15 gallons for the fall holistic spray. Ordering a pallet of 55-gallon drums going into winter makes no sense since I would want to protect the drums from freezing. I will do that pallet order for four drums of Organic Gem next spring.

Any chance someone in New England area has some extra fish at drum pricing? That's on the order of $6 a gallon, with freight charges. I could either pay you now or replace product next spring.
